Missouri Ethics Commission – Annual Report

Commission Overview: Authority and Mission

The Missouri Ethics Commission was established by the Missouri General Assembly in 1991 with the passage of SB 262 (§§105.955 – 105.963, RSMo). The Commission consists of 6 members, 3 Republicans and 3 Democrats, who are appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. Each member is appointed for a four year term.

The Commission acts through its Executive Director and a full-time professional, non-partisan staff. Under state statute, the Commission is responsible for the following:

- Lobbyist registration and reporting of lobbyist expenditures
- Campaign finance reporting for those committees filing reports with the Commission
- Receiving Personal Financial Disclosure Statements (Financial Interest Statements) and maintaining an up-to-date list of required filers

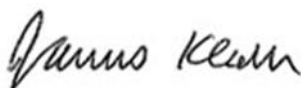

The Commission has the authority to conduct audits and investigations to ensure that lobbyists, committees and public officials are properly filing reports. In addition, the Commission has the authority to investigate complaints relating to the conflict of interest laws (§§105.450 to 105.468, RSMo), provisions of the Missouri Constitution or a statute or local order, ordinance or resolution relating to the official conduct of public officials or employees.

As part of the Commission's efforts to ensure compliance with reporting laws, the Commission is actively engaged in training for public officials and candidates, particularly relating to the campaign finance laws (Chapter 130, RSMo and Article VIII, Section 23 of the Missouri Constitution) and conflict of interest laws. For example, the Commission is currently providing information regarding a recently adopted constitutional amendment which places certain restrictions on how committees are funded.

The Commission staff has adopted its current Strategic Plan which includes the following Mission Statement:

The MEC serves the public interest by promoting and maintaining transparency, accountability, and compliance with campaign finance, lobbying, and conflict of interest laws. We educate and assist the citizens of Missouri, public officials, lobbyists, and those participating in public elections by increasing awareness and understanding of the law. We investigate and enforce these laws consistently.

We hope that you get a better idea of the work the Commission does by reviewing this Annual Report. While we are issuing this report in 2017, the report reflects our analysis of data as reported to the Commission in 2015. If you are interested in learning more about the Commission and the work we do, please visit our website at www.mec.mo.gov.

Campaign Finance

Introduction & Purpose

Campaign Finance Disclosure is required when individuals, groups, and entities receive money (contributions) and/or spend money (makes contributions or expenditures (paid or incurred)) to support or oppose a candidate or ballot measure. The law requires record-keeping and, in most instances, reporting of this activity. The purpose for these disclosure requirements is to provide accountability, transparency, and enforceability. See Chapter 130 RSMo for more information.

Commission staff members assist filers in complying with the statutes via telephone inquiries, e-mail inquiries, and statewide training seminars. The individuals required to file committee disclosure reports are a person or any combination of persons, who accept contributions or make expenditures exceeding certain dollar thresholds for the purpose of attempting to influence the action of voters. Staff receives, processes, and, if necessary, audits the reports. The number of reports received varies depending on the election year. The even numbered calendar years will contain six to eight reporting deadlines, while the odd numbered calendar years will contain only four to five reporting deadlines.

A campaign finance committee is a person or group of persons who accept money from others (contributions received) or spends or incurs money (expenditures made) to influence the action of voters for or against candidates and/or ballot measurers, or to pay a campaign debt. See §130.011 RSMo for full definition of “committee” and “person”. Once the money spent or received exceeds certain dollar amounts a campaign finance committee must be formed and registered.

A candidate committee is the most common type of campaign finance committee. The type of office a candidate is running for, the amount of money accepted (contributions received), and the amount of money spent or incurred (expenditures made) by the candidate determines his/her level of reporting and whether or not the candidate has to form and register a campaign finance committee. In general, committees are required to register and file disclosure reports with the MEC. Only campaign committees formed to support or oppose a local ballot issue have the option of registering and reporting with either the MEC or their local election authority (county clerk or board of election commissioners).

NOTE: Data is compiled from reports from committees that are registered with the MEC and subsequently file their reports with the MEC; local committees filing only with their local election authorities are not included.

Failure to timely file the monthly statement results in a $10 per day late fee. A registered lobbyist may terminate their registration at any time.

A lobbyist or lobbyist principal must file a List of Principals and Legislative Action report with the Missouri Ethics Commission by March 15 and May 30 of each year.

Reported Lobbyist Expenditures

Personal Financial Disclosure

Introduction & Purpose

Personal Financial Disclosure (PFD) statements are financial interest statements completed and filed by a public official, an employee, or a candidate. The purpose of filing a PFD is to disclose any potential conflicts of interest between the individual and the individual's political subdivision (subdivision). A subdivision includes subdistricts or special districts of the state. PFD filers must include financial information for themselves, their spouses, and dependent children. The financial information disclosed includes only sources of income, assets, and other holdings, not dollar amounts. The MEC must retain the statements which are available upon request. See §§105.483—105.492 RSMo for more information.

Staff members of the MEC assist subdivisions and filers in complying with the statutes. PFD statements are reviewed and processed. The individuals required to file a PFD statement include judges, elected and appointed office holders, candidates for elective or appointed offices, administrative assistants to the statewide office holders, members of boards and commissions, and certain employees of state agencies. 8,000 to 12,000 PFD statements are filed each year depending on the number of candidates required to file a PFD.

The law specifically defines those public officials and candidates (based upon the position they hold with the subdivision or the office they are seeking) required to file a PFD. The law also allows each subdivision the option of adopting its own method of disclosing conflicts of interests and provides minimum requirements. This ordinance, order, resolution, or policy must be adopted or re-adopted biennially by September 15. A certified copy of the ordinance, order, resolution, or policy must be filed with the MEC.

Annual Operating Budget (AOB)

Each subdivision notifies the MEC of its AOB, indicating if it is:

- Over $1 million, or
- $1 million or under

In 2015, 1,424 subdivisions recorded as having an AOB as over $1 million with 2,663 subdivisions recorded as having an AOB $1 million or under.

Conflict of Interest Ordinance: §105.485.4 RSMo allows a subdivision to adopt its own ordinance, order, resolution, or policy setting forth which individuals must annually file a PFD and what information must be disclosed (see Sample Ordinance on the MEC website). At a minimum each official that had a business transaction over $500 with the subdivision, the chief administrative and chief purchasing officer(s) are required to file a PFD.

The subdivision is responsible for enforcing its ordinance, including imposing any penalties the ordinance may provide for those who fail to file or file late. If a subdivision does not adopt such an ordinance, resolution, or policy, then all public officials must file a PFD. PFDs are due each year by May 1, or if the person is newly appointed or hired, within 30 days of the appointment date, or if a candidate, within 14 days after filing closes for such office.

Of the 1,424 subdivisions reporting an AOB over $1 million, 1,364 have an adopted a conflict of interest ordinance, resolution, or policy on file with the MEC.

Personal Financial Disclosure

2015 Statistics

The following represents the number of filers submitting a PFD statement with the MEC during the 2015 calendar year. A total of 10,234 PFDs were filed in 2015.

Annual Filers include those required or designated within their state agency or by their subdivision to file a PFD due to the position held. They must file the PFD by May 1.

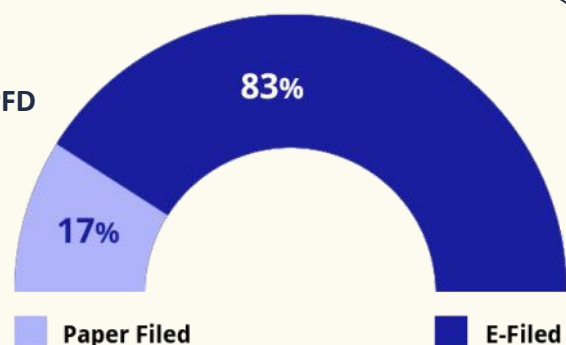

Candidate Filers include candidates required to file a PFD due to the office they are seeking. They must file the PFD within 14 days of the closing date for candidate filing for the office.

Appointees include those required to file a PFD due to the position, board, or commission to which they have been appointed. They must file within 30 days of their appointment date.

Other includes those required to file a PFD that are not identified above, including new hires, who must file their PFD within 30 days of their hire date.

E-filing is available to all PFD filers and encouraged by the MEC staff. In 2015, approximately 83% of those required to file a PFD did so electronically.

2015 Late Fee Assessment

Sections 105.492 and 105.963 RSMo authorize the Executive Director of the Missouri Ethics Commission to assess late filing fees for reports not filed by the statutory deadline.

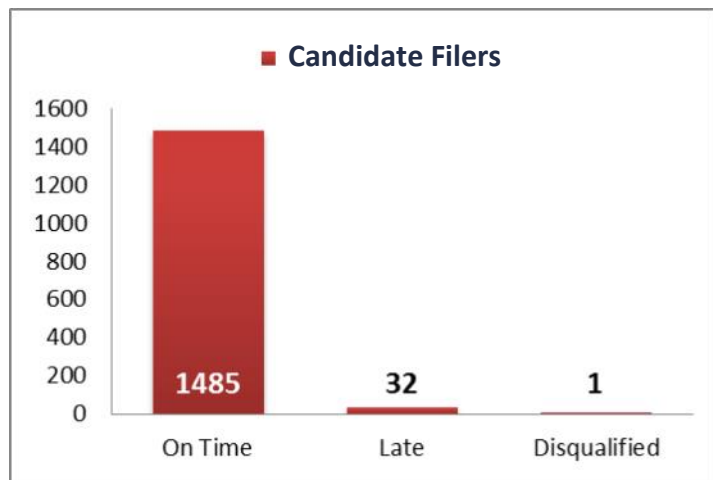

2015 PFD: Late Fee Assessment

Annual Filers that do not file their PFD by May 1 are assessed a $10 per day late fee. If the filing is over 30 days late, the fee shall accrue at $100 per day, up to a maximum of $6,000. (§105.963.3).

A person who fails to file the PFD may also be subject to having compensation withheld until that person files the PFD and may also be subject to suspension from office if the person does not file the PFD within 30 days after receiving notice that the PFD is late. At the request of the Commission, the Attorney General or prosecuting attorney may take necessary legal action to enforce this provision (§105.492.1).

Candidate Filers that do not file their PFD by the 14th day after the close of filing for their election are assessed a $10 per day late fee, for the first seven days. If the candidate has not yet filed a PFD by the 21st day after the close of filing for their election, the MEC will notify the election official who accepted the declaration of candidacy of the failure to file a PFD. The candidate is disqualified as a candidate and the election authority is required to remove his or her name from the ballot (§105.492.2).

In 2015, total late fees assessed for annual filers was $8,220.00 and total late fees assessed for candidate filers was $840.00. Late fees are deposited in the state general revenue fund.

Enforcement

Introduction and Purpose

Explanation of Investigative and Audit Processes

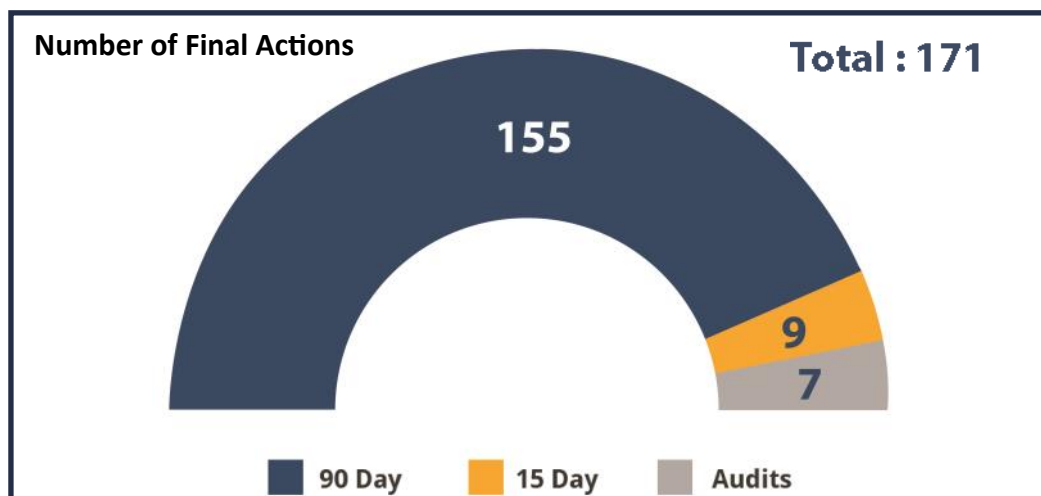

The Missouri Ethics Commission conducts audits and investigations under §§105.955 to 105.961, RSMo. The Commission may receive a notarized complaint alleging a violation of: Lobbying, Conflict of Interest, and Personal Financial Disclosure (Ch. 105); Campaign Finance (Ch. 130); Provisions of the Missouri Constitution, States Statutes, or Orders, Ordinances or Resolutions of political subdivisions relating to official conduct of officials or employees. The Commission may only investigate an alleged violation occurring within 2 years before the complaint is filed.

A complaint is assigned to an investigator who completes the investigation and presents a report to the Commission within 90 days. However, if a complaint is received alleging campaign finance or violations by a candidate within 60 days before an election, the report must be presented to the Commission within 15 business days. Such investigations are limited in scope to the allegations contained in the original complaint.

The Commission reviews the report to determine if there are reasonable grounds to believe a violation has occurred. If the Commission finds reasonable grounds, it refers the report to the Commission Counsel or the appropriate prosecutorial authority for further legal action. If the Commission does not find reasonable grounds, it dismisses the complaint.

An audit can occur as a result of staff review of a committee's campaign finance disclosure reports filed with the MEC or by referral from a local election authority. After review, if there are reasonable grounds to believe that a violation has occurred, the Director shall initiate an audit of the committee. Unlike a complaint, an audit report may take more than 90 days to complete before being presented to the Commission. If the Commission finds reasonable grounds, it refers the report to the Commission Counsel or the appropriate prosecutorial authority for further legal action. If the Commission does not find reasonable grounds, it dismisses the complaint.

Within 5 days of initiating an investigation or audit, the Commission notifies the parties. State law requires investigations and audits to remain confidential except for the Commission's final actions, which are posted on the MEC website.

2015 Assessment of Fees for Violations

The Commission has discretion as to whether to assess fees when it finds probable cause to believe a violation or violations have occurred. Specifically, §105.961, RSMo, provides the Commission with various remedies, including the authority to impose fees. The Commission is authorized to assess up to $1,000 per violation, or double the amount involved in the violation. A case before the Commission may involve one violation or multiple violations.

When the Commission assesses fees, violators may be given the option to pay a percentage (typically 10% or 20%, depending on the severity of the violation) on the condition that no further violations of law will occur within the next 2 years. Following this approach, the Commission collected $21,755 in fees in 30 cases during 2015. This approach achieves compliance with the order and also provides a strong incentive for future compliance.

If the parties agree to a reduced fee or the Commission agrees to assess a reduced fee after a hearing, but the party does not comply with the terms of the agreement or order, the Commission will impose the entire fee. In 2015, the Commission imposed $109,000 in 2 cases where violators did not meet the conditions set out in the agreement or order.
